

Resources from the NEA

All,

I wanted to share some valuable resources that came down from our national association late last week.

I think these resources do a dynamite job at demonstrating the resources coming from the federal government that will be at our disposal soon. I know everyone is feeling the pinch as we discuss budget draw downs, I hope these resources will quell some of your concerns, I know they have mine. We are not out of this by any measure but we may want to consider a reset of expectations as this additional information rolls in. I would be happy to share these resources as they are made available.
